MANY YUKONERS HAVE HAD TO LEAVE THE TERRITORY and move far from their families, their culture and their roots, to find employment in other parts of the country.

As Victoria Gold builds its Eagle Gold Mine, now over 85 per cent complete, and readies for its first gold pour later this year and operations, the company is actively seeking qualified Yukoners to fill numerous and varied positions at the mine.

“We are inviting Yukoners with experience working at producing mines to apply with us to come home and join the Eagle Gold Mine team,” says Victoria Gold President and CEO John McConnell. “We are excited about exploration and mining and look for innovative ways to move our work forward and know Yukoners share this same spirit and work ethic.”

The company launched its “Yukoners, It’s Time to Come Home” campaign nationally and began interviewing in January and hiring shortly thereafter. Victoria is hiring in accordance with Eagle Gold Mine’s production ramp-up schedule, which means as production increases, so too will hiring.

A list of available positions towards rewarding careers can be found on Victoria’s web site.

“We believe in hiring and training locally to provide meaningful jobs for Yukoners,” continues McConnell. “We aim to secure the most qualified individuals to join our team, while upholding our firm commitment to the territory’s residents and communities that they benefit from the success of the mine.”

YUKONERS, IT'S TIME TO COME HOME.

VICTORIA GOLD IS PROUD TO HAVE YUKONERS AT WORK

ABOUT VICTORIA GOLD & THE EAGLE GOLD MINE

The Eagle Gold Mine, currently under construction, is part of Victoria’s 100 per cent-owned Dublin Gulch gold property located approximately 375 kilometres north of Whitehorse and 85 kilometres north, northeast of the Village of Mayo within the traditional territory of the First Nation of Na-Cho Nyak Dun. The property is accessible by road year-round and is within Yukon Energy’s electrical grid.

The Eagle Gold Mine has received all major permits for construction and operations, completed the Yukon Environmental and Socio-economic Assessment Board (YESAB) process and mutually created and implements the Comprehensive Cooperation and Benefits Agreement with the First Nation of Na-Cho Nyak Dun. Once in operations, the mine will be a significant economic contributor to Yukon employing 350 to 400 people.
